A SENSATIONAL FEATURE.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the Airdome and Colonial Tonight.

Today and tomorrow the big sensational moving picture "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be the program at the Airdome and Colonial. These were made from the famous story by Harriet Beecher Stowe, and which is shown all over the world as one of the largest factors in bringing on the Civil War. The pictures, there are three of them, follow the story as told in the book very closely. Most Southerners thought that the exaggerated accounts of slavery in the South, as given in this book were true and it had a worldwide circulation. The pictures are highly sensational, the acting exceptionally good, the settings real, old before-the-war, Southern plantations. Photographically the pictures are superb, and all in all they are the finest ever shown in Greenville. Mr. Langdon presents them simply for what they are worth as examples of fine picture-making and not because the story is in any way the truth. Lovers of the best acting and settings in moving pictures will appreciate these whether they like the story or not. Four shows a day for today and tomorrow will be given, at the Colonial at 2:30 and 4:30 and at the Airdome at 7:15 and 8:45.
